

1- Sales and marketing assistant :

Optimalogistic is looking for dynamic and autonomous person in order to join its sales team.

Your will be part of the sales team and your main task will be :

- Phone call to our prospects and clients.
- Phone and mail support for our customers.
- Social media management
- Writing and update of offers and posts on the web site and other digital products.

2- Web developer specialized in AI:

Optimalogistic is looking for dynamic and autonomous person with engineering background in AI in order to join its developer team. You will be able to start working on AI and machine learning. It's preferred that the candidate start a part of the final project of the next year during this period.

Your will be part of the development team and your main task will be :

- Analyze database and optimize the content.
- Study some scenarios of optimization using AI
- Implementation of machine learning in our algorithm.
- Coding using web technology (php, angular, laravel....)

3- Web developer with knowledge in Laravel and bootstrap:

Optimalogistic is looking for dynamic and autonomous person with engineering background in web in order to join its developer team. You will be able to start working on ongoing web projects front-end and backend. It's preferred that the candidate start a part of the final project of the next year during this period.

Your will be part of the development team and your main task will be :

- Analyze database and optimize the content.
- Html/css/jquery coding
- Implementation of new scripts in our algorithm.
- coding using web technology (php, angular, laravel....)

We need persons who are availables at least for 2 months.

The job is available in our offices in Sfax and Tunis.